T. AETNA AGAIN IN ERUPTION.

VILLAGES DESTROYED AND THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS AND FLEEING FOR THEIR LIVES

CATILINA, Italy, March 25—The eruption of Mount Aetna has increased in volume today. A stream of lava fifty feet deep and a half a mile wide is sweeping down the mountain side at a rate of thirteen hundred feet an hour.

The villages of Borello, Belpasso, Leo, Binazzi, Copello and Albanese are destroyed, partly or entirely. Thousands are homeless and are fleeing to this place. The government engineer is powerless and troops are being hurried to the scene to assist in the evacuation of towns. Cardinal Francescova Nava, the aged archbishop of Catilina was thrice overcome while administering to sufferers. No deaths have been reported, but several are missing. The government has been appealed to.

IMPROVEMENTS IN PROGRESS AT THE DAYTONA HOSPITAL.

Dr. G. A. Klock is making some decided improvements at the Daytona Hospital and Sanitarium, on South Beach street, which will add greatly to the efficiency of this already well equipped institution.

A system of baths and hydrotherapeutic arrangements are being put in, with the completion of which, hot air and vapor baths, electric and electric tub baths, showers, etc., will be available.

The addition should prove a great boon to both townspeople and tourists. This branch of the institution, during the season, will be under the supervision of an experienced masseur or masseuse and will be conducted in conjunction with the more strictly medical work.

The demand for these therapeutic measures during the present season is ample proof of their value in the treatment of abnormal conditions and, as prophylaxis, Battle Creek methods and the Wier Mitchell system will be followed as closely as possible, it is expected that many will avail themselves of this opportunity not heretofore offered in Daytona.

The preparation for and installation of the apparatus for these alternative systems demands a large financial outlay, but Dr. Klock is a progressive, up-to-date physician and surgeon and quick to see and provide for a need of this kind in connection with the work of his chosen profession.

Mrs. J. E. Townsend has just received a letter from Mr. Townsend in which he advises her that he will leave Ionia, Mich., in a few days for Groton, S. Dak., where his business requires his attention. Mrs. Townsend and little daughter will leave here to join Mr. Townsend as soon as the frost is out of the Dakota soil.

The punishment fits the crime. If you do not buy Medicines from a reliable concern, you can not expect to get the best for your money. The prices charged here please the most economical and the goods please the most fastidious.

WAS THE AEROPLANE IN FLIGHT LAST NIGHT?

MANY PEOPLE, STAR GAZING, ON BEACH STREET, THOUGHT THEY SAW IT.

The big aeroplane, housed on the ocean beach north of the Automobile club house, was thought by many to be making a flight last night.

People coming from the races in the afternoon spread the rumor that a trial would be made by the flying machine at about 7:00 o'clock in the evening and a number of persons were on the lookout for it.

About eight o'clock, or a little earlier, some one saw, or imagined he saw, a light rising from the beach in the vicinity of the shed in which the machine is housed and immediately the news spread.

Much excitement was created and crowds quickly gathered along Beach street and other points of vantage to watch the flight, a number hurrying to the beach by wheel and automobile to be in closer proximity to the twinkling light suspended in the east, which as they advanced receded farther and farther into the distance over the broad expanse of ocean.

It was a beautiful, bright, moonlight night, soft and balmy, and even more of Daytona's visitors and citizens should have been out to enjoy it than were called forth by the aeroplane's supposed flight.

Had anyone stopped to consider the matter, it might have been remembered that it was high tide on the beach.

Did you see the flying machine?

TRANSFER OF RESIDENCE PROPERTY ON VOLUSIA AVE.

F. Shultz, of Hobe Sound, has sold his house and lot on West Volusia avenue to J. L. Robinson, who is assisting H. S. Miller at Our Store. Mr. Robinson has purchased the property for the occupancy of himself and wife and they will take immediate possession.

HOLLY HILL

HOLLY HILL, Mar. 23—Miss Edith Dickinson, who has been spending the winter here, has returned to Boston and expects later to join her brothers in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Corning will leave on Friday for their home in Maine.

On Saturday Miss Quattlebaum returned home from Bulow, the school term being over. A pleasant school picnic was held at Mr. Mann's. Mrs. Chas. Harris, Miss Zilpah Harris and the Misses Josie and Bessie Quattlebaum went from here to help with the fun.

Mrs. Chas. R. Simonds is visiting in Daytona for a couple of days, but will come back to finish her visit, and then leave on Saturday for her home in Jacksonville.

Among our visitors this week were Mrs. W. C. Innes, Mrs. Hinsche and Mrs. Hayward, of Cincinnati.

SENATOR DANIEL HOLDS GAIN OF PAST FEW DAYS.

NO APPRECIABLE CHANGE SINCE YESTERDAY, BUT GENERAL TONE IS BETTER THAN AT ANY TIME SINCE STATE OF COMA SET IN.

Although there was no appreciable change in Senator Daniel's condition since last evening he has held the gain made in the past few days and is now fully as well as before the state of coma set in some days ago, and talks more freely than at any time since he lapsed into that unconscious condition.

The bulletin issued this morning says:

Senator Daniel's condition continues this morning without appreciable change since last evening. He had a satisfactory night and has not awakened fully at this hour (8:00 a. m.) Pulse, temperature, nourishment and elimination continue the same.

EASTER SERVICES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Easter will be celebrated at the Baptist Church next Sunday with appropriate services, both morning and evening. In the morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "Because I Live, ye Shall Live," John 14:19. In the evening his subject will be, "The Risen Saviour's first Message," John 20:17. There will be special music. Come and have a joyous Easter. A warm welcome awaits you.

The pastor will preach at Holly Hill at 3:00 in the afternoon. Rev. C. C. Gillette will preach at the Seabreeze Mission, at Wilman's Opera House at 3:30 p. m. Come and give him a good congregation.

Miss Jacquiline Pritchard, of Pittsburg, Pa., died this morning at 3:30, of paralysis, after an illness of two weeks, in her 83 year. Miss Pritchard was highly esteemed by all who knew her, and has been with her sister, Miss Caroline Pritchard, at LaCrosse Villa this season. She had enjoyed a house celebration of her 82 anniversary on the 12th of February, and was reasonably well, age considered, up to the time of the attack. The remains will be shipped to Pittsburg, Pa., tomorrow for interment, accompanied by her sister.

EARLY SETTLER OF DAYTONA PASSES AWAY THIS MORNING.

MRS. W. W. VAN DORN DIES, AT THE HOME OF HER SON ON WEST VOLUSIA AVENUE.

Mrs. W. W. Van Dorn, one of Daytona's earliest settlers, passed away early this morning at half-past six o'clock, at the home of her eldest son, Henry Van Dorn, on West Volusia avenue.

Mrs. Van Dorn has been in failing health for some time, but her strength had been going more rapidly of late and her death has been expected at any time for the past few days.

The funeral will be held at the residence on West Volusia avenue at ten o'clock tomorrow morning. Rev. D. D. Dieffenwerth, pastor of the Kingston M. E. church, South, officiating, and the remains will be laid at rest in the Pinewood cemetery, beside those of her husband, who died May 28th, of last year.

Miss Lucretia Hoyt was born in Canada, Feb. 6, 1839, and married to W. W. Van Dorn at West Union, Iowa, Jan. 5th, 1861, where she was at that time teaching school.

She came to Daytona with her husband in 1876 and settled upon the lot on Beach street upon which the Stillman hotel now stands, the house having been built by them and conducted by Mrs. Van Dorn for a number of years, under the name of the Van Dorn House.

Mrs. Van Dorn is survived by two sons, Henry and Charles, of this city, and a daughter, Mrs. Wilson Drake, of North Middleboro, Mass.; also several grandchildren and two great grandchildren, the children of Wm. Van Dorn, of this city.

With Mrs. Van Dorn's death, another link is struck from the chain of Daytona's early settlers, who are fast passing into the great beyond.

PRINCE ITO'S SLAYER IS EXECUTED.

PORT ARTHUR, March 25—Inchon Angan, slayer of Prince Ito, was executed today.

FIVE BODIES RECOVERED FROM CHICAGO FIRE.

SIX STORY BUILDING BURNED IN CHICAGO—LOSS, $150,000 —FIVE WOMEN BURNED.

CHICAGO, Mar. 25—At noon today firemen recovered the bodies of six women from the ruins of Fish & Co.'s six story building that was destroyed by fire this morning. Chief Horn says eight women were trapped. One woman jumped from the sixth floor and was killed. Fish & Co. report eleven missing; seven girls and four men.

The fire started in a cigar factory on the fifth floor. Loss $150,000.

MASQUERADE BALL LARGELY ATTENDED.

The masked ball at the Army last night was largely attended, some forty or fifty couples being present as well as a large number of spectators. Many of the ladies were in fancy costumes and a few of the gentlemen.

The room was nicely decorated with palmetto leaves, grouped on the walls and at the windows, while a booth of greenery was constructed in the center of the floor about the stage, on which the music was situated, the same being furnished by Wood's Orchestra, so well known and popular. The electric light bulbs were shaded to different colors, giving a very pretty light effect, and a pleasant time was enjoyed by both the participants and the onlookers.

The ball was in part a benefit for the City Island improvement.

TWO GOOD BALL GAMES

The Kentucky Military Institute ball club were at the Hotel Ormond last week and played two games with the hotel ball team. But they had no better success than when they were here several weeks ago. The Institute boys play a fine game, but DeLano's pitching and his support from the local team were too much for the visitors. Two very pretty, and at times exciting games were played on the afternoons of Friday and Saturday. Here are the scores:

Friday afternoon—
K. M. I.—0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
Ormond—0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0—2
Saturday afternoon—
K. M. I.—0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1
Ormond—0 0 0 2 0 0 1 1—4

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Arensburg, of Arensburg Station, Pa., who were temporary sojourners here, located on Orange avenue, left Thursday on their return north. Dr. Arensburg owns a large acreage in coal lands in his section of Pennsylvania, and is also prominent in State politics. He and J. M. Carson are warm personal friends, having grown up on adjoining farms, but came near missing each other in Daytona, as the Dr. had lost track of Mr. Carson's whereabouts in Florida. However, their meeting was very opportune, and they enjoyed several reminiscent talks before Dr. and Mrs. Arensburg's departure.

PITTSBURG EX-ALDERMAN INDICTED.

ALLEGED TO HAVE ACCEPTED
BRIBES FROM BANKS — DI-RECTORS ORDERED TO REPORT TO THE COURT.

PITTSBURG, March 25—The grand jury investigating the council corruption today asked District Attorney Blakely to prepare for submission on the indictments against Charles Stewart, Wm. Brand and Hugh Ferguson, former councilmen, charged with receiving from Pittsburg banks $102,500 to continue the passage of the bank depository ordinance, and conspiracy to bribe other councilmen. The names of John Klein, Joseph Wasson, former councilmen, were omitted, because they confessed before the grand jury.

Jacob Soffel, a former councilman who refused a bribe, was exonerated. The directors of six banks alleged to have bribed councilmen are ordered to report to the court Monday.

ENTERTAINED A FEW FRIENDS AT CARDS

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Carter entertained a few friends at cards Wednesday evening at their home on Volusia avenue, the game being five hundred.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Davis, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bennett, Mrs. Fannie Kline, Miss B. M. Doyle and Mr. and Mrs. Carter. After the cards, Mr. Davis took the role of musical entertainer and added to the pleasure of the evening by giving selections upon his harmonica, at the same time playing the accompaniments upon the piano.

L. C. Persons, of Columbus, Ohio, a magazine writer and newspaper correspondent, who has been spending the winter in the various East Coast towns of Florida, is in Daytona for a short time and enjoyed the races during the week. Mr. Persons is getting up material for a paper on the trees of Florida, which he says, in variety and habits makes a very interesting study. He is down here on account of a nervous breakdown, and has realized great benefit from the trip.

One of the most interesting and important events in the history of the city of Stonia was the recently held election for the mayor. The election was held on the 10th of the month of June, and the result was a surprise to many of the voters. The candidate who was elected was a man of experience and ability, and his election was a great credit to the city of Stonia.

By L. C. DEMAREE.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River. Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful laughers, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon this beautiful surface. Take out your fiel glass and sweep the river from Ormond's bride to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood. Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another, so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty for one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering, "What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruit. Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round You are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, proficacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you. The Fastest Autos and The Finest Out.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbuckto, and you will be "shown." Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse power, up to a 200-horse power, and all degrees of speed from acanter to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down into your wallet only for coin for auto, and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide-water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The mean average temperature, 80 degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straightaway record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin. For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unfit for mortar, builders say, because its smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the wet, apparently soft beach, these round particles settle down into a cement almost as hard as asphalt, beyond the comprehension of one who has not seen it. Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours it is entirely rebuilt by the tides. The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet, and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobiling some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.

Seabreeze contains a handsome opera house and a Congregational Church; at Daytona Beach is a M. E. Church. An excellent high school is situated near the division line between the two towns. Both towns have enterprising business establishments, as is evidenced by the advertisements on the left and right.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated. The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy. Flowering shrubs have been planted, which are covered with a wealth of bloom both summer and winter.

Work of rebuilding the Clarendon hotel is now in progress. This magnificent fire-proof structure, which is to contain 250 rooms, when completed will be the peer of any hotel in Florida. The site is immediately north of the clubhouse of the Florida East Coast Automobile Association. The Ocean Pier is a great attraction to fishermen and it is lined summer and winter with enthusiastic disciples of Izaak Walton, who find it nothing unusual to land fish weighing several hundred pounds.

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of bygone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low. A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile.

Silent, in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the roof being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO

Is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can put aside your conventional garb, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWKS PARK

A pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of newness, comfort and seclusion about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach.

Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with sub-tropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobilism, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are made invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moundgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moundgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road [passing Number Nine] and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominant products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute.

From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

LAKE HELEN

Surrounded by several pretty lakes and guarded by lofty pine trees is Lake Helen, a winter resort of no little importance. Camp Cassadaga, a spiritualistic camp-ground is situated near Lake Helen and at this place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

ORANGE CITY

The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

THE DAYTONA DAILY NEWS

Published every evening, except Sunday, from December 1 to April 1, by THE GAZETTE NEWS CO. T. E. FITZGERALD, Editor-Manager. G. S. HARRIS, City Editor. Geo. F. CROUCH, Superintendent.

WHY?

This is a pitiful tale of little Jan Stoeck, victim of the mine disaster at Cherry, Ill.

Jan, son of a father killed in the mines, was aged fourteen. He was a sensitive child who read books beyond his years and passionately loved music.

But Jan was the man of the family at fourteen!

The morning of the awful fire in the mines Jan was in bed sick, and the doctor said he must stay, but he knew the rent was just due.

So the brave little fellow pinched his thin lips together and went to the shaft, the miner's lamp lighting up his pale little face and his poor lunch in his little tin bucket.

"We must not give up, little mother," he said as he kissed her goodbye.

And she?

Leaning against the shaft house that fatal day, sobbing in her old brown shawl, the mother wailed:

"My God! I kissed him and sent him to his death! I sent him to die in that hell hole below there for $1.13."

Motherlike, blaming herself.

And when they got her to her home in the little shack, while the fiery inferno raged below, poor Barbara Stoeck, robbed now of both husband and son by the Moloch of the mines, said to a woman reporter:

"Never again shall I be able to draw a full, long breath. Something clutches me when I look into the face of a child. I can see little Jan, my baby boy, lying there in the passage with his head resting on his arm and on his dead face the patient, loving smile he always had for us."

The poor woman grew hysterical and then, half crazed, talked proudly of how Jan read the big books.

"It was the old family coming back in him. Once, in the old country, his father's folks were nobles. Of five years they have been working people. Jan went to his death smiling, like many a man of his race before him."

Is it not an unutterably sad mystery?

Why should such a noble spirit as Jan's be blown out by the hellish flames of the pit when others, gross, wordy and unheroic, are permitted to quietly burn to their very sockets?

To say there is no kind Providence that permits it to be so is to give over to blank despair. We are shut up to the belief that all mystery has a meaning.

One thing can be done.

The laws of Illinois say no boy under the age of sixteen shall be permitted to work in or about a mine.

The laws must avenge the death of Jan Stoeck.

Two Long Golf Drives.

Two golf players determined to play a match by moonlight. The antagonists were in every respect worthy of each other, and as the match proceeded fortune did not appear to incline on either side. At last they came to a long hole, and to each it occurred at the same time that a critical moment had been reached and that it was necessary to adopt heroic measures. They drove off two long balls, which to the eyes of the ordinary spectators appeared to vanish into night, far beyond all human powers of vision to follow.

But each of the combatants declared that he saw perfectly where his ball had gone, and they walked off with unfaltering steps in the direction of the hole. When they had gone about 180 yards neither began to show any signs of indicating that he had reached the place where he expected to find his ball. Both went on with unhesitating stride. At last when they got to the putting green, some hundred yards or so beyond the longest recorded drive, both balls were found lying within a club's length of the hole. Each player had arranged to drop a ball through a hole in his trousers pocket.

Love's Market.

She—Harold, do you speculate? Harold—Well, I'm engaged to you—Life.

Knew the Ropes.

"What do you say to a young lady at a dance?" queried the youth who was about to attend his first ball. "Oh," replied the society man, "talk to her about her beauty."

"But suppose she hasn't any?" said the youth.

"In that case," rejoined the society man, "talk to her about the ugliness of the other girls present."—London Times.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Thompson returned to their home in Rossville, Illinois, Friday. They have been occupying Mr. Weatherbee's cottage for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones after spending three weeks at Mildred Lodge, have returned to New York. Mr. Jones is an inventor. He has three factories and employs four hundred hands.

Recent arrivals at Rose Villa are as follows: Mrs. Catherine Garrett, Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jones, Worcester, Mass.; Miss M. E. Stocket, Miss M. N. Rector, Miss B. E. Adams, Washington, D. C.

Harry Edgebert left Wednesday for the North. He has been an elevator boy in the hotel and will go to Pennsylvania as attendant to one of the hotel guests, who is in poor health. Harry's home is in Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Alice Collins, of Hartford, Conn., who has spent several days at Mrs. Mason's, has gone to Winter Park to spend the rest of the season with her sister, Miss Faith, who spent the winter at Ormond two years ago.

I. H. Sawyer arrived in Ormond Monday from St. Louis, for a short stay. He stopped off in Jacksonville long enough for the Times-Union man to catch his picture, but Mr. Sawyer's best friends could not recognize his smiling face as it appeared in the paper. Mr. Sawyer is a director of the Brown Shoe Co., and one of the largest advertisers in the country. He is stopping with Mrs. Sawyer's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colby.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new golf grounds. The Hotel Company is hoping to extend the course several hundred feet north of Neptune avenue and enlarge it to an eighteen hole course. The present plans include a nine hole course for next season. Manager George Merritt has mapped out the grounds and about forty Italians and several mules and horses are busy clearing the land. It is proposed to remodel the present bathing pavilion for a combined bath and golf house. The grounds will be piped for water and twenty-five men will be kept busy putting the course in shape for next season.

Poser For the Husband.

Returning home from Atlantic City, a Frankford man drew a photograph carefully from his pocket and showed it to his wife. Said he: "There's a man who's in love with you."

It was not a good picture, one of those cheap plugpong photographs. The husband had not been in a condition to be well "taken," and there was little likeness. His wife looked at the picture for several minutes, very much puzzled. Finally she spoke up:

"Why, it's Jim! Where did you see him? And where did you get this? And what did he tell you?"—Philadelphia Times.

To Tame Him.

"So you're going to introduce baseball among the prisoners? I don't approve. What will become of discipline?"

"If a man gets too obstreperous," replied the warden confidently, "we'll make him umpire."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Pin Money.

Mrs. Brideley—Reggie, dear, you know that $50 you gave me for a new hat? Mr. B.—Yes, dear, Mrs. B.—Well, I've saved the money. Mr. B.—But I see you're wearing a new hat. Mrs. B.—Yes; in order to economize, as you suggested, I kept the $50 and had the hat charged.—Lippincott's.

Miss Katharine Waldron entertained several of her school friends at a birthday party last week, Saturday.

Walter Lapp, of Eulow, has taken a room for the next six weeks at Mrs. Lula Hall's. He will run the Hollister boat.

Oliver Loomis, who has been spending the winter at the Thrall cottage on Granada avenue, left Tuesday for his home in Westfield, Mass.

Mrs. E. Lee and Mrs. Dr. Francis left for Starke, Fla., Tuesday. They took with them Mr. Lee, who has been in feeble health for many months.

The Alma, Captain Colby, took a party to Daytona Tuesday: Mr. and Mrs. George Howe, Miss Margaret Howe, Miss Putnam, Miss Phinny and Miss Bent.

Work has begun in earnest on the new club house this week, though there are still more bosses than workers it is probable that the building will soon be ready for use.

Miss Bessie Hall left Wednesday for Minnesota. She had been with Mrs. Lula Hall this winter. She will spend a few weeks at Two Harbors, Minn., and then go on to Minneapolis.

Harold Baker probably holds the bass record for the season. Fishing off the rocks on the second bend of the Hernandez Grant last week he pulled in a twenty pounder. Can any one beat it?

Among the recent registers at Mildred Lodge are the following: C. E. Wetzel, Wyoming, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. George Stephen, Delta, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wilson, Indianapolis, Ind.; Jesse C. Irwin, Napanoth, N. Y.; Francis Wynkoop, New Paltz, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hunter and J. D. Hunter, New York.

The papers were passed last Monday for the sale of the property of Mrs. Washington Watson to Theodore Fluhart, of Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Fluhart is to take possession next Monday. He intends to make some improvements on the property, including a wharf and the extension of the porch around on the south side of the house. He has bought Mr. Johnson's motor boat which has been lying at the Hotel Ormond dock this winter. Mrs. Washington Watson expects to give up possession of her house Monday. She will stop for the rest of the season at Mildred Lodge.

Colored Jubilee Singers of the Robert Hungerford Normal and Industrial school at Eatonville, Florida, were at the Union Church Wednesday night. They sang plantation songs and their leader, Professor Russell C. Calhoun, who dialect readings. The audience was delighted with the evening and responded liberally when the basket was passed in the aid of the school.

Curious Village Names.

There is in Dorset a group of villages which in some form or other have as their eponym the stream in whose valley they are situated. The stream is named Puddle, and the villages bear the names of Puddle Hinton, Puddle-town, Tulpuddle, Affpuddle, Turner's Puddle and Bryan's Puddle. One is reminded of the riddle about the letter "m." Some, like Queen Mary, "have it before," some, like King William, "have it behind." Poor things, poor things! "The inhabitants of these villages," says Marcus Dimsdale, who writes in the Cornhill Magazine on "English Village Names," "sent to a former postmaster general—if I am rightly informed, Cecil Raikes—a request that they might be allowed to change their names and replace them with more euphonious substitutes which they obligingly supplied. Back came the official reply, curt, overbearing, inexorable, 'Puddle you are, and puddle you must remain!'"

Shopkeeper to commercial traveler.—"Can't give you an order. Quite overstocked. Traveler—Let me at least show you my samples. Shopkeeper—Spare yourself the trouble. I can't look at them. Traveler—Then will you allow me to look at them myself? It is three weeks since I have seen them.—London Penny Pictorial.

Theaters of Different Ages.

The difference between the playhouse in which we see a drama of Bronson Howard's today and the playhouse in which Sheridan's comedies were originally acted is greater than the difference between Sheridan's Drury Lane and the house for which Congreve wrote and in which Betterton acted. And that restoration playhouse was very unlike the Elizabethan theater for which Shakespeare wrote and in which Burbage acted. Even more apparent is the difference between the theater of Dionysius at Athens and the Roman theater at Orange. These theaters are sharply distinguished from one another by their size, by their shape, by their methods of illumination, by the absence or presence of real scenery and by the arrangement of the seats for the spectators, and as we study these successive changes we are confirmed in the conviction that these physical conditions must have exerted a powerful influence upon the dramatists who followed one another down the centuries.—Brander Matthews in Century.

Wisdom In Fable.

Among the best things that have ever been written are the Aesop's fables, which date back to the sixth century B. C. They present human nature as it always has been, and is probably always will be. Take, for example, the story of "The Fox With out a Tail."

"A fox was once caught in a trap by his tail and in order to get free was obliged to leave it behind. He knew that his fellows would make fun of his tailless condition, so he made up his mind to induce them all to part with their tails. At the next assemblage of foxes he made a speech on the uselessness of tails in general and the inconvenience of a fox's tail in particular, declaring that never in his whole life had he felt so comfortable as now in his tailless freedom. When he sat down a sly old fox rose and, waving his brush, said, with a sneer, that if he had lost his tail he would be convinced by the last speaker's arguments, but until such an accident occurred he fully intended to vote in favor of tails."

The Hand Kiss.

The kiss of the hand is undoubtedly ancient and therefore is not derived from that of the lips, but probably the converse is true. The hand kiss is loosely asserted to be developed from servile obeisances in which the earth, the foot and the garments were kissed, the hand and cheek succeeding in order of time and approach to equality of rank. But it is doubtful if that was the actual order, and it is certain that at the time when hand kissing began there were less numerous gradations of rank than at a later stage.

Kissing of the hands between men is mentioned in the Old Testament; also by Homer, Pliny and Lucian. The kiss was applied reverentially to sacred objects, such as statues of the gods, as is shown by ancient works of art, and also among numerous etymologies by that of the Latin word "adoro," and it was also metaphorically applied by the inferior or worshiper kissing his own hand and throwing the salute to the superior or statue.

English Cigars.

"Do cigars ever contain rope?" "No. That's just a pleasant of the jokemakers. As a matter of fact, hemp is too expensive to put in the cheaper brands of cigars."—London Mail.

Whelks' Eggs.

Natural soap is not heard of very often, but it not only exists, but is highly prized by Jack Tar in the tropics when the purser reports that the ship's supply of soap has given out. Then all hands are sent ashore to gather a supply of "natural soap," which is found on the shore in the shape of whelks' eggs. The whelk is a little shellfish, or marine mollusk, which in Europe is eaten like mussels, cockles, oysters and clams, but in the tropics it is more highly esteemed for the soap it provides in the shape of its eggs. The eggs are found in a light yellowish mass which is composed of some five or six hundred capsules. One fish alone produces millions of these eggs in the course of the year. They are found on the shores of the Atlantic, but are very profuse on the intertropical coral reefs, where sailors take large quantities aboard for use as soap.

Diamond Cut Diamond.

"Patrick H. McCarren," said a Brooklyn lawyer, "knew how to handle men. He met straightforward men with straightforward methods, and tricky men he bested with wily tricks than their own."

"Once he illustrated his policy to me with a story. He was like, he said, the rich Peter Higgins."

"When Peter was young and gay two friends, being hard up, put up a game on him."

"Peter," they said, "you might pay us that $2 we lent you."

"When did you lend me $2?" said Peter haughtily.

"Why, night before last, when you were drunk," was the reply.

"Oh, yes," said Peter. "I remember now. But, hang it, I paid you back!"

"Paid us back? When?"

"Last night, when you were drunk. Don't you remember?"

Danger of Poor Teeth.
Just what effect on the stomach is produced by the constant swallowing bacteria and pus from diseased teeth, mingled with decomposing particles of food, we are unable to determine, but it is reasonable to suppose that gastric disturbances are greatly aggravated if not induced by so doing. In every community there are those who are enthusiasts on the subject of pure air and wholesome food, but whose mouths are in such a neglected condition that the air which passes through them is almost as polluted as that of a crowded tenement, and every mouthful of food swallowed carries with it to the stomach millions of bacteria. The almost entire futility of sterilizing articles of diet for patients in whose mouth chronic abscesses exist or whose teeth are covered with tartar mixed with mucus and food in a state of decomposition need hardly be mentioned.—Boston Herald.

Four Kinds of Pupils.
The Talmud says there are four kinds of pupils—the sponge and the funnel, the strainer and the sieve. The sponge is he who taketh up everything, and the funnel is he who taketh in at this ear and letteth out at that; the strainer is he that letteth go the wine and retaineth the dross, and the sieve is he that letteth go the bran and retaineth the fine flour. The student who begins at least to wish to belong to the last named class will not have been sent to college in vain.

He Liked It.
Wife—How do you like my new hat? Husband—The idea of paying big prices for— Wife—Big prices? Why, I made it myself. Husband—Um—yes—er—as I was saying, the idea of paying big prices for such monstrosities as the milliners are showing! Now, your hat is a work of art. Looks as if it came from Paris. Beautiful, my dear!

A Big Help.
The lecturer raised his voice with emphatic confidence. "I venture to assert," he said, "that there isn't a man in this audience who has ever done anything to prevent the destruction of our forests."
A modest looking man in the back of the hall stood up.
"I—er—I've shot woodpeckers," he said.—Everybody's.

Make Some One Happy.
Charles Kingsley thus counseled a friend: "Make it a rule and pray to God to help you to keep it, never, if possible, to lie down at night without being able to say, 'I have made one human being at least a little wiser, a little happier or a little better this day.' You will find it easier than you think and pleasanter."

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE WEIGHT OF THE ROPE.

A large man and a small man wanted to get at the bottom of a canyon to look for gold.

The walls were precipitous, and the only way down was by means of a rope. It was decided the larger man should lower the smaller one.

As a precaution the rope was put about the lighter man, and he was lowered a little way to a slight shelf and each time was easily drawn up by the man at the top.

So far so good.

Finally the full descent was made in the manner agreed upon. But when the small man wanted to get up again—horrors!—the man at the top could not pull him.

They had failed to reckon on the weight of several hundred feet of rope. In the story is a touch of human nature.

A business man, fairly prosperous, grows discontented with his slow but sure progress toward independence. He decides upon a coup. He buys far beyond his ordinary ability to pay, depending upon a phenomenal trade which he confidently expects. The custom does not come to his counters as anticipated. Unable to meet his bills, the first thing he knows he is down in the canyon of Debt. He cannot get up save as the referee in bankruptcy pulls him out.

Too much rope.

Another man speculates on the board of trade. He has made a little money in the bucket shop and decides that the old humdrum methods of business are too slow for him. He wants easy money. One day he is at the bottom of the canyon of Speculation. It was a sudden descent. He can't get out because of—

Too much rope.

Still another man forms the habit of drink. When he gets the habit he is in danger, but does not realize it. Can't he quit when he wants to? The rope will pull him out. But the coils grow heavy, and when he gets to the bottom there is—

Too much rope.

A married woman indulges in flirtation. There is no danger. It is only a harmless diversion. She does not mean to be untrue to her husband. It is so complimentary to find that "some soul is twin to yours." But there is no stopping place—

Too much rope.

It may be stated further that the small man who went down in the canyon almost starved before they got him out.

Some who go down that way never get out. There is too much rope.

The Wall Street Game.

The burning question on Wall street is always whether stocks will go up or down. If any man were able to answer it correctly he could make himself a millionaire in a day, but speculation is neither a fortune telling nor a gambling game, and the man who believes otherwise is bound to lose his money and to join the ranks of the disconsolate, disgusted and depleted who make the outcry against the evils of Wall street, says Leslie's Weekly.

The winner in Wall street is gifted with the same business characteristics that bring success in any line of enterprise. He utilizes them in buying and selling stocks, just as he would if he were engaged in merchandizing. He knows, for instance, that prosperous conditions are reflected by what are called the bank exchanges, by railway earnings, the record of failures, the condition of the iron market, the balance of trade and especially the outlook for the crops.

Baked Cheese Omelets.

Baked cheese omelets are most appetizing and may be prepared in several ways. A good recipe calls for a pint of milk, four large eggs, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one of butter and a teaspoonful of salt. Let the milk heat on the stove until it reaches the boiling point. Beat the butter and flour to a cream and gradually mix it with the hot milk, taking care that no lumps form. Cook the mixture for five minutes. Let it cool and add the egg after beating the yolks and the whites separately. The whites should be beaten to as stiff a froth as possible. Pour the omelet into a buttered dish, sprinkle the top with grated cheese and fold some of the cheese through the omelet. The more cheese used the better. Let the omelet bake for half an hour or until it is solid, so that it will not "run" when dipped out with a spoon. It should bake in a hot oven.—New York Tribune.

Corn, Oats and Wheat as "Seeds."

School children in the crowded part of New York do not speak of corn and oats and wheat by those names, but always refer to them as "seeds." The other day in one of the big schools the teacher was talking to her pupils about gardening. She ended with a request for each pupil to bring a few seeds the next day to be planted in the window boxes. The following morning the children appeared mostly with either oats, wheat or corn. While putting a few grains of each in the earth the teacher referred to them by their familiar names. One of the girls in the class took courage to "set the teacher right" and said: "Some one must 'a' told you wrong, teacher. That," pointing to the wheat, "is bread seed, an' that yellow stuff ain't corn; it's pigeon seed. We always call them that in the block where we live."—New York Sun.

NOT BURIED AT SEA.

The Humane French Boatman and the Dead Englishman.

A long expected French lugger was seen making for the mainland, and the Lowestoft free traders were on the alert, anxiously seeking an opportunity for communicating with her crew. While they waited for a lapse of vigilance on the part of the excise men a boat was lowered from the lugger and rowed toward the shore. A curious crowd of beach men and excise men assembled to meet her, and as she came in on the crest of a roller it was observed that she contained a coffin.

The French boatmen had a mournful tale to tell. On board the lugger had been an Englishman suffering from an illness which soon proved fatal. In his last moments of consciousness he had begged the captain not to bury him at sea, but to keep his body until a resting place could be found for it under the green turf of a churchyard in his native land. Sympathy with his sad fate and the knowledge that the lugger was not far from the English coast had induced the captain to consent, and now he had sent the body ashore for burial. In spite of his broken English the Frenchmen's spokesman told his tale well.

Both excise men and beach men—especially the latter—loudly expressed their admiration of the captain's conduct. A parson was summoned, and in a little while a mournful procession made its way from the beach to the churchyard. Even the chief officer of the excise men was present and is said to have shed tears.

That night the local "resurrectionists" were busy, and at dawn the churchyard contained a desecrated grave. A little way inland, however, in the midst of the marshes, a smugglers' store received the addition of a coffin filled with silks and lace.—"Highways and Byways in East Anglia," by W. A. Dutt.

ON THE FLAT SHELL.

Oysters Opened That Way With a Purpose, the Waiter Said.

The waiter had taken a long time in getting the oysters, but as he was well known to his guests and his guests to him that occasioned no comment. When the oysters were brought the waiter set them down before his customer and asked:

"Do you like them better that way?" The diner looked, but he didn't notice any difference, so he asked, "What way?"

"Why, on the flat shell," replied the waiter. "Don't you see they aren't on the curved part of the shell, as usual?" "I see it now that you tell me about it," said the diner, "but I don't exactly get the significance."

"Well, you see," said the waiter, "they always keep them upstairs on the round shell, and when any one calls for oysters if they do come on the round shell it isn't a certainty that they have been opened fresh. Sometimes they aren't good, just because they have been standing. When I call for them on the flat shell, as I do for some of my customers, then they have to open them specially for that order. In that way you get them fresh."

"Ah, I see," remarked the diner. But when he told the professional cynic about it the cynic said something about betting that they kept them standing opened in both ways.

"Besides, any one knows they look fatter on the flat shell, which is all the more reason they'd be likely to serve them to some folks that way. If they asked for extra large oysters they'd get them on the flat shell. The same oysters on the curved shell would go as ordinary sized oysters," remarked the cynic gloomily.—New York Sun.

The Humble Librettist.

In the history of opera there are many curious anomalies, but perhaps the strangest is the role played by the librettist. For the most part obscure and unknown, and generally unremembered, the librettist has nevertheless been responsible for the ablest and most brilliant lyrics of letters. Among those who have undertaken the part are such names as Voltaire, Goethe, Wagner, Addison and Fielding, while others of considerable poetic talent, for example, Metastasio, Calzabigi, Rossini, Boito and Coppée, have tried their hand at libretto writing with assurance, giving to it their best efforts. And yet the successful librettists are few—the merest handful out of a harvest of three centuries.—Forum.

How Sunshine Beats Down.

It is a common thing on hot days to hear people say that "the sun beats down." But few suspect that the rays of light actually do beat down upon the surface they strike. Light is a wave motion in the ether, and waves, whether of sound or water, press on bodies in their way. Clerk Maxwell calculated the pressure of light, and experiments of Herr Lebedew have shown that he was right. The pressure is very slight, as may be supposed, but it really exists.

Worse Yet.

Mamma—Johnny, you bad boy, you've been fighting again! Your clothes are so badly torn that I'll probably have to get you a new suit. Johnny—That's nothing, mamma. You just ought to see Tommy Jones. I'll bet his mamma will have to get a new boy.—Chicago News.

Corrected.

Mr. Struckoff—That there sculptor fellow says he's goin' to make a bust of me. Mrs. Struckoff—Henry, it's dreadful the way you talk. Say "burst," not "bust."—Philadelphia Record.

MYSOST.

A Norwegian Cheese That Is Made of Goats' Milk.

There is a terrible kind of Norwegian cheese called "mysost," which is made of goats' milk. It is brown in color and served in the shape of bricks done up in silver paper. The initiated shave this into thin films and make it into a sandwich with black bread and butter. This cheese is really made from the whey after proper cheese has been manufactured. All the water is then boiled out, and the remainder is compressed into these brown bricks, which taste sweet and gritty.

Love of this cheese would take some time to acquire. The opportunity is not lacking, for it appears at every meal, from breakfast onward. There are several native cheeses. Another terrible one, "pultost," is made with caraway seeds and always smells as if it had gone bad. Mysost has no smell, fortunately, only a terrible aspect and taste.

Dr. Julius Nicholysen sent a few Norwegian delicacies to a friend in Germany, and, among others, he put in a piece of the native mysost. His friend wrote and thanked him for the salmon, etc., and then continued, "The soap is very nice, but we find great difficulty in making the lather." This was the cheese!—London Saturday Review.

AMERICAN CRACKERS.

Pilot Bread the First Variety Made in the United States.

The first cracker produced in the United States, so far as known, was pilot or ship bread, a large, round, chunky, crisp affair, which supplied the demand of the merchant marine for an article of food that would, unlike ordinary bread, keep for a prolonged period.

Later another variety was originated, the cold water cracker, which differed from the first chiefly in its smaller size, more compact texture and greater hardness. For a long time these two were the only goods known to the trade.

They were both made of unleavened dough mixed and kneaded by hand, and the crackers were rolled out and shaped separately before being placed, one at a time, on a long handled sheet iron shovel or peel and transferred in order to the floor of the oval shaped tile oven then in use. It was not until some time later that raised or fermented dough was used in the manufacture of crackers, and it is only within the past three-quarters of a century that any great variety has been produced.—Bakers' Weekly.

Dogs and Somersaults.

As there is more than one way of cooking a goose, so there is more than one method of teaching a dog to throw somersaults. But the most practical and thorough manner is to fasten a cord around the body of the animal close to the fore legs, and two people should hold the ends of the cord on either side of the unfortunate dog. A third party, armed with a stout rope, takes a position immediately in front of the canine acrobat and with a measured and masterly stroke flings the door at close quarters to the dog's nose. At each stroke of the rope the dog springs backward, and that movement is the trainer's golden opportunity. As the dog springs backward the rope passing under its body is jerked upward, and, although the first few attempts may prove futile, the somersault is acquired in course of time. An intelligent dog soon sickens of this order of things and throws somersaults without the assistance of ropes.

And Yet the King Died.

During the fatal illness of King Charles II. of England there were fourteen doctors in attendance, and they dosed him in the course of five and a half days with the following drugs and powders: Orange infusion of the metals, white vitriol dissolved in compound penny water, powder of sacred bitter, sirup of buckthorn, common decoction for clysters, rock salt, emetic wine, two blend pills, bryony compound, powder of white hellebore roots, powder of cowslip flowers, best manna, cream of tartar, barley and liquorice, sweet almond kernels, sal ammoniac, antidotal milk water, mallow root, melon seeds, chicken broth, bark of elm, a julep of black cherry water, flowers of lime, lilies of the valley, spirit of lavender, prepared pearls and white sugar candy, senna leaves, ale, sirup of cloves, Goa stone, Rhine wine, oriental bezoar stone and a number of other medicines.

Society's Mandates.

Society can and does execute its own mandates, and if it issues wrong mandates instead of right or any mandates at all in things with which it ought not to meddle it practices a social tyranny more formidable than many kinds of political oppression, since, though not usually upheld by such extreme penalties, it leaves fewer means of escape, penetrating much more deeply into the details of life and enslaving the soul itself.—John Stuart Mill.

The Ubiquitous Purist.

Vicar—I'm sorry to hear you're been so poorly. You must pray for a good heart, Thomas. Thomas—Ya-as, zur. But it's my liver wot be wrong, ye know, zur.—London Telegraph.

Sky High.

Howell—Our servant kindled the fire with kerosene the other morning. Powell—Did you reprimand her? Howell—You bet she got a blowing up.—New York Press.

Hold your tongue and you will pass for a philosopher.—Italian Proverb.
